MR. AND MRS. ROBERT HARTEL
... Arrive From Turkey

Robert Hartel, Turkish Bride Arrive For Visit

By VONDA CARLTON

What most impresses a young Turkish bride who is viewing the United States for the first time? It isn't the food, nor the electrical appliances common to even the poorest American home, or the largeness of the country.

It's Chinatown — according to Mrs. Robert Hartel who recently arrived in Torrance from Istanbul with her husband.

Robert, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Hartel of 1513 W. 215th St., was stationed with the United States Air Force in the Turkish city where he met his bride.

The lovely auburn-haired newcomer has been busy seeing the Southland during her first two weeks in Torrance. "It's not much different here . . . the people are friendly and nice," she said. "But here, nobody ever walks any place."

And shopping for clothes presents another problem. In Turkey all clothing is tailor made. "The clothes fit much nicer," she said. She admits that shopping in ready-to-wear stores is fun though.

And food — that's different here too. In Turkey, they eat only one meal a day — but dinner hour is quite long.

Turkish food is also highly seasoned, she says.

Ceni (pronounced Jenny) and Bob were married in Istanbul 10 months ago. They had both a Turkish and a U. S. Civil ceremony.

Between the two of them, each speaks the other's language, Ceni has the advantage though, as she has been speaking English for about five years.

With a couple of young friends, the pair has been to the Long Beach pike, Knott's
